

BACHELOR OF GENERAL STUDIES

Customize your bachelor's degree to meet your specific goals.

Ready to earn your degree, and looking for a flexible curriculum? The IU Online Bachelor of General Studies is just for you. It is a fully accredited, broad-based liberal arts degree without a specific major.

Complete a multidisciplinary course of study that is applicable to a wide range of fields. Take electives that cater to your interests and career needs. Acquire an expansive range of skills and knowledge to advance in your current job, pursue a new career, or prepare for grad school.

Career Outcomes

Your degree prepares you for an infinite number of careers and graduate programs depending on how you tailor your plan of study.

"I had a lot of college credits and had just received a lot of military training, which I was hoping would transfer into college credit. General studies went over the credits and the training I had and plugged it into a degree completion program. This degree is going to help me move on in the rest of my career. I have every intention of becoming a physician's assistant and going back to countries and areas where I've seen firsthand the effects of war."
